CONSTRUCTION.

Place the large tube or standard B into base A, then tighten up set screw No. 1, seeing that the screw presses against the indent stamped in the main standard tube. Then fix telescopic standard C into hole or socket of revolving bracket D, tighten up the small set screw No. 2 and the table will be found to be perfectly rigid. The reading slope or side table telescopic arm E telescopes into revolving bracket socket D. A small thumb-screw is provided so as this side table or reading slope can be regulated to the desired position or height. A pair of nickel-plated collapsible book rests, F, are fastened one on either side of the table top. When not in use they can be pressed down into beading. To adjust table top in a sloping or horizontal position, place one hand on main standard B and with the other hand pull the table top, catching hold of it at the end G, and when at the angle required let go the top and it will spring back and cannot then shift its position.

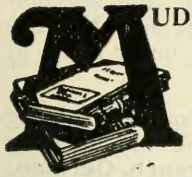
PREFACE



MUDIE'S LIBRARY is probably the oldest institution of its kind in the world, having been started by Mr. C. E. Mudie more than half a century ago (1842) in Southampton Row. Pioneer of Circulating Libraries, it is to-day the largest, best equipped, and most widely known lending library in existence.

During the last sixty years MUDIE'S have accumulated an unrivalled collection of standard works, books that have stood the test of time, and still retain a large and appreciative circle of readers. Many of these books are now out of print, and no longer obtainable elsewhere.

Public demand, emanating from all classes in the United Kingdom, has been the criterion governing the selection, which is augmented daily by extensive purchases of current literature. Sometimes, indeed, two or three thousand copies of a new book likely to be very popular are purchased immediately on publication. It can, with perfect justice, be claimed for this collection, that it is more complete, and more truly representative of the best in English and Continental literature, than that of any other circulating library in the Kingdom.

The Catalogue has been specially designed in order that subscribers may, with quickness and facility, in their own homes, obtain an accurate knowledge of the literature at their command. It is divided into two main divisions.

Division I. includes all books other than Fiction; these are arranged in one alphabetical order under the names of authors and subjects. Works upon every topic of national importance will be found under an appropriate heading, such for instance as the Arts, Army and Navy, Politics, Economics, Theology, Sociology, Philosophy, Science, Sport, etc., etc. History, Travel and Social Life are grouped under the names of the countries concerned; a very extensive selection of Memoirs, Diaries, etc., of celebrated men and women forms an especial feature in this connection. A Synopsis of the classification and a copious Index have been compiled, so that, by consulting these, readers will without difficulty trace books upon any subject required that are circulated by the Library. The Synopsis and Index occupy the pages immediately following.

Division II. of the Catalogue contains works of Fiction, placed first under their titles, followed by an alphabetical list of Authors with the novels they have written; in this section the names and works of the popular novelists of the Victorian and present era are fully represented.

Many novels have predominant historical, topographical and psychological interest; to facilitate reference to these a classified selection of Fiction is included, which by a simple arrangement is linked with the more solid works of a similar nature in Division I.

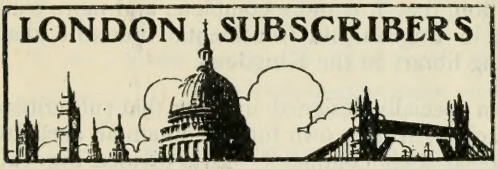
For the Juvenile reader a specially selected list of some two thousand books is given at the end of the Catalogue; this selection comprises instructive reading in History, Science, and Morals, suitable for the young, together with Stories arranged under topics to suit boys and girls of all ages.

The Foreign Department of the Library is continually being extended, and now includes the principal works in the following languages: Dano-Norwegian, Dutch, Flemish, French, German, Italian, Polish, Russian, Spanish, and Swedish—a library of ten European languages available for the use of subscribers in addition to English. A Separate Catalogue is issued annually of the Foreign Works Circulated; in the English Catalogue a list of translations, classified nationally, is provided.

The organisation of MUDIE'S LIBRARY is such that readers, wherever resident, can be supplied with the books they require with a minimum of trouble and at a price which compares favourably with the charges of any similar institution, whilst the supply of books available to Subscribers to MUDIE'S is unsurpassed.



London Subscribers are offered three alternative services as follows:—

I.—To exchange the books as often as desired, personally or by messenger at—

(a) The Head Office, 30–34, New Oxford Street, W.C.
(b) The City Office, 48, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.
(c) The Kensington Office, 132, Kensington High Street.

II.—To have the books sent to their residences once a week by the Library Vans which visit each district on specified days.

III.—To meet the requirements of Subscribers residing beyond the radius covered by the ordinary Weekly Delivery by horse vans, a Special Weekly Delivery by Motor has recently been instituted, extending to residents within from 10 to 20 miles of London the facilities of the ordinary Weekly Delivery Service.

Provincial Subscribers.

These Subscribers' books are sent to and fro by Rail, by Parcel Post, or by Carrier, to suit the convenience of individual Subscribers and according to the number of books required. If the Rail is selected the books are sent by Passenger Trains at special cheap rates in boxes provided free by the Library. This method is recommended for Subscribers living in large Provincial Towns, or close to Railway Stations in the Country.

Where it is difficult to get the boxes from the Railway Station, and in case of the smaller Subscriptions, the Parcel Post is recommended as the cheapest and most convenient method of exchange.

For the convenience of Subscribers who prefer not to be troubled by having to pay the carriage on each exchange, a Special Scale of Subscription has been arranged to include carriage of books to and from any Railway Station in Great Britain, and to allow for twelve exchanges in the year.

Provincial Subscribers may, at any time when visiting London, exchange their books by hand at the Head Office.

Continental Residents, and Visitors to Europe, the Mediterranean, Egypt, etc.

Books from MUDIE'S LIBRARY can be supplied regularly on the same terms as to Provincial Subscribers. The cheapest and most convenient way of exchange is by Book or Parcel Post.

Special Subscriptions.

For Foreign Books only :—Continental Visitors and Residents in England, and others interested only in Foreign Literature, can choose from the most varied and comprehensive collection of Foreign books in England available for circulation.

For books for Juvenile Readers, a Special Catalogue has been prepared, containing all the best English books of this nature, and a long list of French and German books.

Book Societies.

Reading Clubs and Literary Institutions. Secretaries are invited to write to the Librarian, stating their requirements, when Special Terms will be quoted.

Pamphlet containing full particulars with regard to Subscription Rates sent free on application. Abridged Terms appear on page following the Title-page.
